"We chose the Engage series of books to use in Literacy Lift Off in our school. From my experience as a Reading Recovery teacher, I could see that the Engage books would be very suitable as: An appropriate amount of new words are introduced in each book. The conventions of print are developed gradually. Each book has suggested letter work activities. They are attractive & well illustrated & have fact & fiction options at each level. Literacy Lift Off has been a real success! The children love getting their new book every day & bringing it home to read for their parents. Parents have given very positive feedback & have generously funded our Engage books"

Deirdre Kavanagh (Reading Recovery Teacher), Kill NS, Kilmacthomas, Waterford

How does Engage Literacy work?

Engage Literacy is for guided and independent reading. With more than 390 fiction and non-fiction books available, organised by level and book band and written by literacy experts, Engage Literacy is the perfect addition to your existing reading programme.

Engage Literacy offers something for everyone, growing with the needs of each reader.

- As an additional resource to existing reading programmes, Engage Literacy titles provide extra practice
- High frequency words are introduced and developed to encourage recognition and can support readers for whom English is an additional language
- Introduces relevant academic vocabulary in a supportive way to build comprehension and provide tools for written work
- Longer texts support reading stamina and promote reading for pleasure
- Perfect for supporting intervention strategies, such as Reading Recovery, or providing extra challenge for more fluent readers
- The books offer something new and exciting and are great for engaging reluctant readers

How to use the Running Records

Running Record sheets for each Engage Literacy title are provided as the back of the Teacher's Resource Books.

What is the purpose of a Running Record?

- A Running Record provides a diagnostic assessment of a child's reading ability.
- A Running Record looks at the accuracy of a child's word and sentence level and is a valid tool for informing planning.
- A Running Record informs you if a book is suitable for a child's reading level.

Preparation:

- Select a book that the child is familiar with.
- Equip the child with a pencil to mark the text and a red dot marker to mark the text.
- Equip the child with a pencil to mark the text and a red dot marker to mark the text.
- Equip the child with a pencil to mark the text and a red dot marker to mark the text.

Reading a Running Record

- Use the reading symbols outlined below to mark the text on your Running Record as the child reads. Record a mark above each word. Use the first two columns on the right to keep a tally of the number of errors and self-corrections.
- Refer to the reading symbols outlined below. Add notes the reading strategies used on the text.

Reading symbols

W = correct word
 C = incorrect word
 S = self-correction
 U = unknown word
 T = word used if the child attempts the word, but the attempt was not the word and resulted in an error unless the child changes to say the word correctly.

Reading strategies

W = whole
 C = correct
 S = self-correction
 U = unknown
 T = word used if the child attempts the word, but the attempt was not the word and resulted in an error unless the child changes to say the word correctly.

Interpreting the Running Record

Count up the total number of errors (do not include self-corrections) and calculate the accuracy rate using the formula outlined below:

$$\frac{\text{Number of words read accurately}}{\text{Total number of words}} \times 100$$

For example, if a child read 114 words correctly in a 136-word book, the accuracy rate would be:

$$\frac{114}{136} \times 100 = 83.8\%$$

A reading accuracy rate of 95% or above indicates that the book is at a comfortable level for the child to read independently. A reading accuracy rate of between 90% and 95% suggests that the text is appropriate for use during a guided reading lesson. Below 90% indicates that the text is too difficult.

Notes made during the Running Record should indicate which strategies the child is using to read. If the child is relying heavily on one strategy or the other, you may need to support using other strategies.

The Big Mud Puddle

Level 6 Fiction Word count: 115 Text type: Narrative

HWI considered: girdle, get, they, tried, good, you, jumping, on, went

Linking text: The School Garden (Book-Review) Digital Poster 'Wonders/Whisper'

Contextualised notes: naturally, gradually, some

Phonological awareness: leading words, and, consonants, adjacent consonants, 'ing', segmenting CVC

Story summary: Leo and Dad go outside to play in the garden. They have fun playing in the big mud puddle.

Tracing in:

- Trace the path of the puddle as it spreads across the page. Discuss how the puddle spreads across the page. How do you think it spreads? How do you think it spreads? How do you think it spreads?
- Discuss how the puddle spreads across the page. How do you think it spreads? How do you think it spreads? How do you think it spreads?

Book talk:

- Describe the story. Give each child a copy of the book and discuss the title. Ask, 'How do you think it spreads? How do you think it spreads? How do you think it spreads?'
- Ask, 'Who do you think is going to happen in the book? How do you think it spreads? How do you think it spreads? How do you think it spreads?'
- Ask, 'How do you think it spreads? How do you think it spreads? How do you think it spreads?'

After Reading:

- Focus on reading, structure and visual cues. This children find it difficult while reading. Discuss strategies and provide opportunities for children to consolidate specific skills. For example, if a child has difficulty with the word 'hopped', discuss strategies such as sounding out, re-reading or looking at the illustrations.
- Choose from the following activities:

Comprehension:

- Sequence the pictures and have children explain what is happening. Ask, 'What happened before this?' 'What happened next?' 'What happened after this?'
- Group 3: reading, who happened at the beginning, middle and end of the story? Read the story together. Ask, 'Who were the main things that happened? How do you think it spreads? How do you think it spreads? How do you think it spreads?'
- Ask, 'Who were the main things that happened? How do you think it spreads? How do you think it spreads? How do you think it spreads?'

Sequencing

Name: _____ Date: _____

What you will need: coloured pencils, scissors, glue, strip of paper

Colour and cut out the pictures.

Sequence the pictures and paste them in the correct order on a strip of paper.

Phonological awareness:

- As a group find 'looking' in the text. Cover up the 'ng' and ask children to identify the word 'look'. Discuss how words are read differently if they have an 'ng' on the end. How do you think it sounds? How do you think it sounds? How do you think it sounds?'
- Discuss how words are read differently if they have an 'ng' on the end. How do you think it sounds? How do you think it sounds? How do you think it sounds?'

Text conventions:

- Sequence letters. Discuss how sentences begin with an uppercase letter and end with a full stop, exclamation mark or question mark. Turn to different pages of the text and ask, 'How many sentences are on this page? How do you know when the sentence starts? How do you know when the sentence ends?'
- The emphasised first. Discuss how some words in the text are shown in large bold font. Ask, 'What do you know when the sentence starts? How do you know when the sentence ends?'
- Exclamation marks. Ask about how exclamation marks indicate the end of a sentence. Discuss how exclamation marks are used in the text. Discuss how exclamation marks are used in the text. Discuss how exclamation marks are used in the text.

Writing:

- Ask children to think about a time when they have been jumping. Ask, 'What have you been jumping in? How do you think it spreads? How do you think it spreads? How do you think it spreads?'
- Ask children to write a sentence of 5 words when they have been jumping. Discuss how they use an uppercase letter and full stop in their writing.

Assessment:

- PW 1, 2 and 3 completed
- Have the child's responses, attempts and reading behaviours during and after reading
- Collect work samples for PW 1. Could be kept in the children's portfolio
- Complete Running Record (page 41)

WHAT IS ANIMAL ADAPTATION?
What if a deadly coral snake was hiding in the grass nearby? That would be scary. But what if the deadly coral snake was really just a harmless kingsnake? Over time, animals have made special changes to survive, or keep on living. These changes are called adaptation. Some adapt by being a certain color or having different skin coverings. Kingsnakes are in with nearly the same bright colors and spots as coral snakes. Their special changes away attackers by making them think kingsnake is a deadly coral snake.
